Comparing MongoDB and SQL

Features of MongoDB:

- Document-based database

- Flexible schema

- Scalability and horizontal scaling

- Replication and high availability

- Rich query language (MongoDB Query Language - MQL)

Features of SQL:

- Table-based database

- Fixed schema

- ACID compliance (Atomicity, Consistency, Isolation, Durability)

- Strong consistency and data integrity

- Standardized query language (Structured Query Language)